

Good Morning

Today would have been Review Day so we will not be setting you home learning to complete. You've now made it to the Easter holidays! I hope you get some lovely chocolate (and I hope I get some too!)

Enjoy your break; it has been a very busy and strange term and you deserve a rest.

If you would like some things to do though, here are some ideas of things you could do to fill some time:

- Read, read and read.....
- Create a book review, character wanted poster, comic strip or newspaper article about any book you read.
- Learn a new skill: juggling, sign language, a magic trick or dance routine.
- Make a board game or write a quiz for your family to do.
- Paint a picture of the view from your window.
- Cook some Easter treats (you could then write down the recipe and decorate it to give to someone).
- Watch some educational programmes: Horrible Histories, Blue Planet.
- Make a den in the garden or in the house.
- Make an obstacle course and time yourself and others to do it - who is the quickest?
- Make your own Top Trump cards.
- If you have any cornflour, make some slime (just add water). Can you find out why it behaves like this? What is the special name for this type of substance?

There are also a number of websites (see the separate document) you can use if you still want to do something to practise your maths and literacy skills.

You should receive instructions on how to access Seesaw at home in the envelope with your term's report. I will post some things on here for you to do if you would like to. After Easter, we will post home learning on here as well as on the class page.

I miss you all,

Stay safe and stay at home.
